Eaton's Kim Walkey Named to the CRN 2022 Women of the Channel Power 100 List

- List honors most powerful women of the channel based on contributions, expertise and channel advocacy

CHICAGO ... Power management company Eaton today announced that CRN[®], a brand of The Channel Company, named Kim Walkey, director, US channel sales distribution, Distributed IT, to its Women of the Channel Power 100 list for 2022.

Kim Walkey

This list honors some of the most powerful women of the IT channel, chosen by the CRN editorial team, based on their contributions, expertise and channel advocacy. Through strong business acumen, innovation and strategic thinking, these individuals support partners and customers with exceptional leadership. CRN celebrates these women with deserved recognition for their constant dedication to channel excellence.

“As Eaton continues to face a challenging global environment, Kim, with support from her team, continues to demonstrate the expertise, dedication and leadership that helped guide us to record results,” said Chris Butler, president, Critical Power and Digital Infrastructure, Eaton. “We’re proud to see her efforts in supporting our channel partnerships are being recognized. This recognition is a testament to her accomplishments.”

“We are proud to once again recognize the remarkable leaders on this year’s Women of the Channel list. Their influence, confidence and diligence continue to accelerate channel success significantly,” said Blaine Raddon, CEO of The Channel Company. “Their accomplishments will inspire others and we look forward to witnessing their future contributions to the channel.”

CRN’s 2022 Women of the Channel Power 100 list will be featured in the June issue of CRN Magazine and online at CRN.com/WOTC.
